Jenny looked up Kate's phone number in the phone book.

She picked up the receiver...

Hmmm...

...and heard a dial tone.

Then she dialed the number.

ring...
ring...

She heard Kate's phone ringing.

Hello?

When Kate answered...

Hi, Kate.
This is Jenny.

...Jenny said hello and identified herself.

I'm calling to see whether you'd like to go swimming.

Then she said why she called.

For Special Attention

- Phone is a short way of saying "telephone."
- Receiver means the part of the telephone that you put near your ear and mouth.
- Most modern telephones are push-button phones — you dial by pushing buttons.
- A dial tone is a sound that tells you the phone is ready to use. If you pick up the receiver and you don't hear one, the phone might be "dead" — not working.
